

SAN MIGUEL DE ALLENDE / PRIVATE GUIDE

The San Miguel Buyer's Guide

A considered approach to finding a home, from first priorities to the conversations that move a search forward.

BLAZE BEASLEY

Begin with the life you want

A San Miguel search is strongest when it begins with daily life, not a listing feed.

Set your compass

Name the things that will shape an ordinary Tuesday: walkability, quiet, outdoor space, hosting, work routines, views, access, and how often you expect to be here. Separate non-negotiables from preferences so the search can stay focused as you learn.

Explore with intention

Each neighborhood has its own rhythm. Spend time on foot at different times of day, notice the streets around a home, and ask how a location feels when you are not simply visiting. A good shortlist is about fit, not a generic ranking.

Tour beyond the highlight reel

On a tour, slow down. Consider natural light, room flow, street activity, storage, outdoor areas, and the condition of systems that matter to you. Ask for context around any feature you may need to maintain or update.

A USEFUL FIRST BRIEF

How will you use the home most of the year?

Which daily conveniences matter most to you?

What should a visit or virtual tour help you learn?

Who should be part of your professional team?

From shortlist to informed next step

A thoughtful purchase process makes room for questions.

Ask for the right information

Before moving forward, request a clear picture of the property, its documentation, utilities and services, community rules where applicable, and any planned work or operating considerations. Keep questions in writing and make a simple record of the answers.

Build the right team

Your real estate advisor can coordinate the search and help you frame questions. For legal, tax, title, financing, immigration, residency, or notarial matters, consult qualified local professionals who can advise on your particular circumstances.

Keep the process personal

For international buyers, distance does not need to make the process impersonal. Agree on how you will communicate, when you want updates, and what needs your review. A clear working rhythm makes decisions easier to manage.

DUE-DILIGENCE CONVERSATION STARTERS

What records and documents should my qualified professionals review?

What is included, excluded, or subject to further confirmation?

What ongoing responsibilities should I understand?

What information would change my decision?

A private conversation, at your pace.

Blaze Beasley offers personal guidance for buyers and sellers exploring San Miguel de Allende. Begin with the questions that matter to you; there is no pressure to have every answer yet.

Start a private consultation at withbeasley.com

beasleymotion@gmail.com | +1 (210) 915-7177